KLAMATH FALLS, TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 14, 1908

WANT THE BEST RESULTS.

After the adjourning of the County Court, it was agreed by the members to appropriate $1000 for advertising the county in case the Chamber of Commerce should make a contract with the Sunset magazine for advertising and pamphlets. Now the question being asked is whether the Chamber will decide it is the best policy to use $1000 for this purpose.

There is no question but what the advertising would bring some good results, but would it not be better to get this money appropriated for use in arranging a grand exhibit of the Klamath products at Seattle? Money is not going to be over plentiful this year and what can be raised should be expended only after careful consideration, and then in the way that will bring the largest returns. If the funds used for advertising are distributed among too many propositions, it will be almost like throwing the money away. Klamath county should make a showing at the Seattle fair that will not only compare favorably with other Coast exhibits, but will surpass anything there, and attract the attention of the entire United States. If we cannot do this it would be better to give up the idea entirely.

The proper advertising of this section is a matter of vital importance to every land owner in the county, and after the grand showing made at Sacramento, there is no question but what the Chamber of Commerce would have the support of every farmer in the county in making a big showing of products at Seattle. Seeing is believing, and if the thousands, who will visit the fair, can see what Klamath county can do, it will be much more convincing than all the reading matter that can be printed.

AMERICANS BEST SHOOTERS.

The great international team match shoot, the most important event of the Olympic Rife contests, has been won by America and the American marksmen thus become the champions of the world. The American aggregate score was 2553; that of the British team 2486, while the Canadian score was 2439.

Starting with a lead at the end of the first range, the Americans never were displaced, and with the exception of the contest at the 600-yard range, they scored higher totals for each of the six distances than the finest teams that Canada and all Europe could put in the field.

In the individual aggregate the Americans were always prominent, first Leushner and then Martin leading all the world's crack riflemen. Many experts consider the outcome a victory not only for the men but for the rifles. They declare that the short-barrelled new Springfield rifle proved itself a far better than the new short-barrelled Lee-Enfield in use in the British service.

The Americans also won the revolver team competition. The magnificent performances of the Americans made them public favorites. Belgium was second and England third.

A company with a preliminary capital of $125,000 is being formed to establish a line of airships to carry passengers between Berlin, London, Paris, Vienna, St. Petersburg, Copenhagen and Stockholm. The Krupp and other large banking interests are involved in the project. The revival of interest in the German Aerial Navy League and other kindred projects is due to Count Zeppelin's recent successful invention.

A forestry bureau will soon be established to facilitate the administrative work relating to forest reserves in Oregon and Washington. Before the first of the year approximately 50 clerks now employed in the office at the national capital will be transferred to a coast city. It is said that similar offices will be established in other parts of the west.

WILL NOT SUPPORT BRYAN.

That William J. Bryan is not to have the support of William R. Hearst is indicated by the attitude of Mr. Hearst's New York newspapers, the American and the Evening Journal. The two papers announce a loss of confidence on their part both in the Democratic party and Mr. Bryan.

A Fish Mystery.

One strange feature of this sea life of the tropics is the regular recurrence of migratory swarms of fish of very small size that return in huge numbers year after year with such absolute regularity that the natives calculate on the event on a certain day in each year and even within an hour or two of the day. One such swarm of fish forms the occasion of an annual holiday and feast at Samoa. The fish is not unlike the whitebait for which the English Thames has so long been celebrated, and each year it arrives at Samoa on the same day in the month of October, remains for a day or at the most two days and then disappears entirely till the same day of the following year. Why it comes or whence so curious a naturalist has yet discovered, nor has anybody traced its onward course when it leaves the Samoan group, but the fact is unquestionable that suddenly, without notice, the still waters of the lagoon which surround each island within the fringing reef become alive with millions of fishes passing through them for a single day and night and then disappearing for a year as though they had never come.—London Standard.

The Armenians.

The history of Armenia is not cheerful reading. With the exception of occasional brief periods, the Armenians have been almost continually under some foreign rule. Assyrians, Babylonians, Medes, Persians, Macedonians, Romans, Parthians, Saracens, Mongols and Turks have each in turn dominated the country, and of all these successive foreign yokes the present one, that of the Turks, has been the longest and the heaviest. The highest activities of the Armenian people today are not to be found in Armenia proper, but rather in the marts of prominent cities the world over. This is especially noticeable in Constantinople, Smyrna and other cities of the Levant, where the marked aptitude of the Armenian in business enables him practically to dominate the commercial situation. One example is the oriental rug trade, which is practically controlled by Armenians not only in the east itself, but also in many western countries.—Argonaut.
